

Artistic Tile, L'Abbate, Balkan, Colavita & Contini, L.L.P., and Singer Nelson Charlmers proudly present:

Avoiding the Risks and Reaping the Rewards of Green Design

A FREE EVENT TO BENEFIT DIFFA

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

All Architect and Interior Design
Professionals including Principals

WHAT ARE THE RISKS?

- Do you risk more claims from your clients or others by providing "green" design services?
- Are you altering your professional standard of care when providing "green" design services?
- Do you understand what you are representing when certifying to the LEED requirements?
- Does your traditional construction observation services need to change in a LEED project?
- Could you be expected to pay your client damages if an anticipated LEED level or benefit is not achieved?
- Do you know the insurability of the risks of "green" design?

ATTEND TO HELP DIFFA

Learn more about how you can help at DIFFA.org

WHAT Protect your firm and capitalize on green design

WHEN Tuesday, May 4, 2010
8:30am - 9:00am - Registration and breakfast
9:00am - 11:00am - Seminar

WHERE Artistic Tile Showroom, 38 W. 21st St. NY, NY

WHY Earn 2 AIA approved LU hours - meets HSW and sustainable design criteria - By attending this free program a donation of $25 will be made to DIFFA in your name by Singer Nelson Charlmers

Discussion Leader

Paula M. Gart, a partner in L'Abbate, Balkan, Colavita & Contini's Design Professional Practice Group, with many years of experience representing design professionals, chairs the Construction Law and Contract Development Practice Group. She concentrates her practice in consulting with architects and engineers about their business and professional concerns.

Program Highlights

Green Design is here to stay. Are you equipped to address the risks and reap the rewards? Every design professional in practice today must render environmentally responsible designs. The exciting arena of green design presents many important issues that design professionals are advised to address before they embark on their projects.

The client's expectations of the benefits of designs incorporating environmentally responsible systems, techniques, materials and products may be higher than you reasonably anticipate. Do not enter the Green Design arena "green in experience".

Brought to you by

ARTISTIC TILE
Proud supporter of DIFFA

LB&C

singer nelson
charlmers
TOTAL PROTECTION.
TOTAL COMMITMENT.
A WORLD OF DIFFERENCE.

SPACE IS LIMITED Register by 4/20 with the attached form

Avoiding the Risks and Reaping the Rewards of Green Design

EARN 2 AIA APPROVED LEARNING UNIT HOURS

By attending this free program a donation of $25 will be made in your name to DIFFA

Donation will be made by Singer Nelson Charlmers

WHAT Protect your firm and capitalize on green design

WHEN Tuesday, May 4, 2010
8:30am - 9:00am - Registration and breakfast
9:00am - 11:00am - Seminar

WHERE Artistic Tile Showroom, 38 W. 21st St. NY, NY

REGISTER TODAY - SPACE IS LIMITED

Please scan and email to Adrienne.Goldberg@singernelson.com or please fax the completed form to Adrienne at 201 837 5050

Name	Title	Email	License #
1) _____	_____	_____	_____
2) _____	_____	_____	_____
3) _____	_____	_____	_____
4) _____	_____	_____	_____
5) _____	_____	_____	_____

Name of firm: _____

Address: _____

Phone: _____

Registration deadline: April 20th

JOIN US AND HELP DIFFA

Learn more about how you can help at DIFFA.org

BROUGHT TO YOU BY

ARTISTIC TILE
Proud supporter of DIFFA

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

Design professionals must enter the green design arena armed with an understanding of the issues and requirements that will be requested and expected of them.

This seminar will address the critical issues confronting design professionals when providing services that utilize environmentally responsible design systems, techniques, materials and products.